

I am opposed to any legislation that lessens the impact of Indiana's Telephone Privacy law. I used to be constantly bothered by sales calls. I have been delighted with the reduction in these nuisance calls from sales people. I pay for my phone service as a convenience to me, not so that companies can use it as a sales tool on their "fishing expeditions". If they want to sell me something, they can send junk mail. At least I can read it at my convenience, not when I'm busy doing something I'd rather do. I should not be held hostage to some business that I could care less about just because I have a telephone.

Thank You,
